Ben resides in Stoughton, Wisconsin with his wife Jennifer and three children: Kayden (5), Brock (3) and Kylie (2). Ben and Jennifer board and care for an elite group of around fifteen to twenty heifers at a time. Over the last five years they have accumulated fifteen nominated All-Americans in various breeds. The greatest achievement since starting their boarding business is breeding and caring for the 2021 Junior Champion of the International Holstein Show. In addition to caring for and boarding show cattle Ben also owns his own hoof trimming business, in which he serves clients in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

After receiving a degree in Animal Science from the University of Platteville and prior to starting his own business, he served as herdsman for Carrousel Farms and Me-Do Meadows for over ten years. Under his care a collective forty Nominated All-Americans were bred and exhibited. Ben also spent several years fitting and preparing cattle at local, state, national and international levels across North America. Aside from developing and exhibiting cattle Ben has also judged cattle at numerous shows throughout the Midwest.

One of Ben's favorite accomplishments in caring for dairy cattle is that he has assisted in developing over a dozen cows that have reached or exceeded the 95 point mark.
