Dean Dohle resides in Pleasant Hope, MO where he owns and operates StarStruck Farm along with his wife Stacy and son Grant, which is home to 50 elite Jerseys. Among the Jerseys, 31 are classified Excellent and 16 Very Good. As a professional cattle fitter for over 15 years, Dean worked with many national champions and All-Americans in several breeds but is most proud to have owned the 2003 World Dairy Expo Grand Champion Milking Shorthorn and has bred All-American nominated cattle in three different breeds. Today, Dean runs the day-to-day operations at his dairy and he and his family enjoy showing their Jersey cattle at several state, regional and national shows throughout the year. Dean has had the opportunity to judge state, regional and national shows in over 30 states and as well as the National Brown Swiss Show in Mexico. He has twice been the Brown Swiss Associate judge at World Dairy Expo and the lead judge for the National Jersey Jug Futurity at the North American Livestock Expo. Dean has judged all breeds at the North American Livestock Exposition in Louisville as well as the New York Spring Dairy Carousel Jersey show, Ohio Spring Holstein show, Western National Jersey Show and the Southwest National Brown Swiss Show. Dean was recognized as the Kluenssendorf-MacKenzie winner at the 2019 World Dairy Expo and will serve as the official judge of the Milking Shorthorn show at the 2021 World Dairy Expo.
